To prove that this is no Idle Jest, it can be demonstrated that the marrying Girl usually goes on the Road a while before she closes a Contract.

The Two-Stepper could not forget the Girl from Another Town. She pulled out next Day, but he looked up the Address. and sent her the Dance Program that he had found in his Overcoat Pocket. She wrote back that it was Awfully Sweet of him to remember poor little Me and then she asked one or two Questions. That gave him a Hunch, so he hought a new kind of Writing Paper, said to be the Latest Agony, and he wrote a rice long Letter in which he told her that she was very easy to look at, and that when it came to picking them up and setting them down in the Slow and Dreamy she made all the other Girls of his Acquaintance look tike a Set of Cripples.

She returned the Serve with one of these Chummy Epistics, written on all efdes of the Paper, with the P. S. crawling up one Margin like a Pea-Vinc. She chucked in few muchy Extracts from the Ostmeni School of Phonelit and saled him the Name

"FROM ACROSS THE WATER."

Some Comparisons of Industrial and Economic Conditions.

To the Editor of The Post. In the Wednesday's Issue of The Post appears an article as above from a correspondent who has just returned from across the water. The Venezuelan matter can be left alone, since it is to be submitted to arbitration. It is to be hope ! in the interest of humanity that all differences between nations may be so submitted in future and that we may never again have to witness the spectacle of prople flying at each other's throats like wild beasts. War is a crime against humanity and a diagrace to civilization

It can not be too freely admitted that the increased armaments of Europe today inflict a crushing burden on its people. Leaving, however, the realm of politics and butter is interested and the relations existing between Americans and Englishmen, your correspondent, is, though perbaps unintentionally, misleading. The bond of friendship between the workmen of the two countries is absolutely real, if for no other reason than that they join hands to fight the common for the join hands to fight the common for the master. That bond is made clear day by day by the trades unions.

The writer was once asked by the secretary of a union in England to translate a letter written in French. It was an application for funds to help a strike in France. A large amount was voted and it

There are economic reasons at present. These still exist, say, in Lancashire, Eng.

You Should See Our Spring Importation of

Embroideries and Wash Goods

Mr. Foley while in Europe this past summer exercised great care in selecting them and how well this has been realized can be seen by glancing them over, for there are no two patterns alike, and they possess that air of individuality not to be seen in small shops. While in Paris, France and St. Gall, Switzerland, he bought the embroideries—the prettiest line that ever came to America. They are just as entertaining as any art gallery, remarked a customer. Through with the embroidery purchase he betook himself to Manchester. England, and purchased the grandest line of White and Fancy Wash Goods. Ecstacies galore, is exclaimed whenever they are gazed upon... These goods are specially displayed this week.
